“We recognize the significant challenges families face as they recover from disaster or displacement,” said Craig Ferguson, Deputy Director of GSFA. “This program is about more than recovery—it’s about creating a foundation for long-term stability and resilience.”

To qualify for financial assistance through the ReCoverCA HBA Program, applicants must have had their primary residence in a designated Qualifying Disaster Area (for example, San Diego County) at the time of the flood. During the first 60 days of the application period (November 10, 2025 – January 12, 2026), priority will be given to households that can demonstrate they were directly impacted by a flood event. Applicants must be considered first-time homebuyers (with limited exceptions) and meet the program’s income limits, capped at 80% of the Area Median Income, to be eligible for assistance.

The ReCoverCA HBA Program is administered by GSFA and funded by HUD through the California Department of Housing and Community Development. For a list of all qualifying disaster areas, complete program policies, updates, and information on other upcoming homebuyer workshops, visit www.gsfahome.org/recoverca-hba.
